7) I think that it may not be quite legal to extend the act in the general way proposed to be done in the draft. At least, the towns & villages along which the longer parts in the Mysore Dt must be specially noted, as was done in 1904. Even if this is done, it is doubtful if it could be considered legal.

8) I was not able to obtain information as to whether the Act has been introduced into rural areas where there is no resident Magte

It is a matter for consideration whether the places (except Hunsur) may be regarded as areas in which there is a resident magte. It will be noticed that only places where there is change of ponies are mentioned in the list
